The Visone Method

A New Philosophy in Early Childhood Education

Carmine and Phyllis Visone

with Doreen Nagle, author of Parenting in a Nutshell

The years between infancy and age six are vitally important: that's when as much as 50 percent of lifelong learning takes place for a child. The Visone Method: A New Philosophy in Early Childhood Education provides parents and teachers with a new, complete guide to early childhood education.

Carmine and Phyllis Visone, owners of the Home Away From Home Academy, Aberdeen, hold a deeply rooted belief that, given the right tools, balanced with the right kind of play and guidance and then delivered during the right stages of development - children would grow into adults who were not only "smart" academically, but smart in a life sense - children who would grow up to lead productive, abundant lives.
